Little Tricks That Make Losing Weight Easier!

When your mood is up and your dress size is down, it's easy to believe in your bathroom scale. Then comes a rough week, and instantly your scale morphs from ally to accuser.

With friends like that, you think, who needs fashion magazines to feel fat? The truth: No matter what it says, a scale can help you shed pounds you don't want. And for dieters, it's just one of many supportive friends. Here's how to make those friendships pay off.

1) Put your scale to work—early and often

For consistent results, weigh yourself at the same time of day and on the same scale (sensitivity can vary between models). Stettner recommends doing it first thing in the morning, after you use the bathroom.

Try sticking with weekly or semimonthly weigh-ins if you're obsessive (that is, if you're inclined to weigh yourself several times daily) or lose perspective easily (one fluctuation ruins your day).

What a beautiful feeling love is isn't it?

I mean you are ready to give away everything you own just for that one smile on your loved one's face. As more and more people are engaging into romantic love relationships, valentines songs CD's are selling like hot cakes. The splendid lyrics of romantic valentine's day songs are heart throbbing. Here's a great love song to sing to that special person in your life.

"Every Thing I Do" - Bryan Adams

Look into my eyes - you will see
What you mean to me
Search your heart - search your soul
And when you find me there you'll search no more

Don't tell me it's not worth trying' for
You can't tell me it's not worth dying' for
You know it's true
Everything I do - I do it for you
Look into my heart - you will find
There's nothing' there to hide
Take me as I am - take my life
I would give it all - I would sacrifice
Don't tell me it's not worth fighting' for
I can't help it - there's nothing' I want more
Ya know it's true
Everything I do - I do it for you
There's no love - like your love
And no other - could give more love
There's nowhere - unless you're there
All the time - all the way
Oh - you can't tell me it's not worth trying' for
I can't help it - there's nothing' I want more
I would fight for you - I'd lie for you
Walk the wire for you - ya I'd die for you
Ya know it's true Everything I do - I do it for you

Little Tricks That Make Losing Weight Easier!

3) Size Up Your Body:

A tape measure is a good choice if you want harder data than "my clothes fit better." Bowerman recommends measuring your waist, hip, bust, and upper arm every 2 to 3 weeks (it takes several weeks to see changes).

4) Log Your Eating Habits:

Ever grabbed a doughnut (330 calories) in the morning, sipped a mocha latte (340) at work, and munched half a bag of potato chips (600) in the afternoon? Keeping track can help. You're more likely to curb your habit, in other words, if you know how many lattes you had in the past month. "People don't realize how often and how much they eat, so a food diary can be a real eye-opener," O'Neil says. Seeing your eating patterns might even inspire healthier stress relief: Instead of pigging out after your insufferable boss goes on the warpath, maybe next time you can close your door and do healthy stretches.

5) Reduce Portions:

Cutting even 100 calories per day can help you lose weight, says Catherine M. Champagne, PhD, RD, chief of nutritional epidemiology at Louisiana State University's Pennington Biomedical Research Center. Also note the time, place, emotions, and other eating triggers you experience.

6) Step Lively

Adding 2,000 steps to your day can help anyone shed flab, so strap on a small pedometer and put your feet to work. Walk at lunch, choose stairs over the elevator, park a few blocks away, walk around an indoor mall, or take folded laundry into the bedroom a few pieces at a time rather than all at once. Work up to 10,000 steps per day, and your scale may just throw you a party.

Here's A Funny DUI Joke...

A policeman was sitting on the hard shoulder watching the traffic go by when a car zoomed past him doing at least 120 mph! The policeman chased him down, and pulled the car over. He went up to the car and asked, "Do you know that you were doing at least 50 mph over the speed limit?"

The driver replied, "Was I officer, I'm terribly sorry but I wasn't aware of that." The policeman said, "May I see your drivers license please?" The man replied, "I don't have one officer."

"Of course you do," said the policeman. "No sir, I don't," said the man.

"So why do you have this car?" asked the policeman. "This is not my car, I stole it," said the man. "You are driving a stolen car?" said the policeman. "Yes I'm afraid so sir,"

Looking puzzled the policeman said, "Let me see the registration, so we can find out who it belongs to." The man said, "There is nothing in the glove compartment except some candy, oh, and my gun."

"Your gun!" exclaimed the officer, clearly worried by this point, as this man was obviously a lunatic. "So you don't have a driver's license, you stole this car, and there is a gun in the glove compartment!" "Yes sir," said the man, "Oh and a body in the trunk."

"WHAT!!" said the policeman turning white, "Ok so you have no drivers license, you have stolen this car, there is a gun in the glove compartment, and a body in the trunk?" "Yes," said the man, sounding slightly irritated.

"Look," said the policeman, "You wait right here and don't touch anything! Don't move, don't even breathe."

So the policeman ran to his car and radioed the station, "I want to speak to the chief," said the policeman, "And quick!"

He waited about a minute and the chief came on the line, "What is it," he said. "I've got a man here, he is a complete lunatic he has very calmly stated that he is driving a stolen car, he has no drivers license, there is a gun in the glove compartment, and a body in the trunk," said the policeman.

"I'll be right there," said the chief. In ten minutes the man and the car were surrounded. There was the chief of police, a swat team, everybody you could imagine. The chief walks slowly to the car in his bulletproof vest and says to the driver, "Hello sir, may I see your drivers license?"

"Of course," said the man, and produced it from his back pocket. Looking puzzled, the chief asked, "Is this your car?" "Yes," said the man. "Can I see your registration please sir?" asked the chief. The man leaned over to open the glove compartment.

"Please don't open it sir!" said the chief. "Why?" asked the man, "I thought you wanted my registration." "I do," said the chief, "But there is a gun in there." "Don't be silly," said the man, and he opened the glove compartment, empty apart from some candy. "Let me get this right," said the chief, "You have a driver's license, this is your car and there is no gun in the glove compartment."

"Yes," said the man, "And there is no body in the trunk, I suppose," said the chief. "BODY!" exclaimed the man, "Why on earth would I have a body in my trunk?"

"Sir I apologize for this, but my officer told me that you had no drivers license, you had stolen this car, you were in possession of a gun, and a body in the trunk." "The lying fool, said the man, "I bet he said I was speeding too!"

Fast And Easy Fajitas!

Okay, so for those of you who like quick and easy dinner tips, add a few premixed seasoning packets and you're ready to go with a healthy Mexican meal for four people for around $10 in the time it takes you to get the coals on your grill hot.

The meat counter has beef and chicken fajita fixings already cut up, and at some locations already seasoned, for around $3.49-$3.99 per pound (prices may vary by location). The compilation includes chicken or beef, red, orange, and yellow peppers and red onions, sliced and ready to go.

If your grocery carries the unseasoned versions, McCormick Spices makes a pre-mixed fajita seasoning for sauté pan use which runs about .55 per packet. For each pound of fajita mix you buy (figure one pound for 3-4 people), you need one packet of seasoning, a package of flour tortillas, and then any extra condiments you want, like salsa, sour cream, or guacamole (You can try McCormick's pre-mixed guacamole seasoning which you simply stir in with two mashed avocados and a little lime juice for some very good guac).

Quick and Easy Fajitas (serves 3-4)

1 lb pre-cut chicken fajita mix
1 packet McCormick fajita seasoning
1/8 cup water
2 tpb olive oil
Salt and pepper
1 pkg flour tortillas
Any other condiments you like (salsa, guacamole, sour cream, etc.)

Heat your charcoal grill.

Place the chicken, peppers, and onions in a medium bowl and season with salt and pepper. Add packet of fajita seasoning and toss to coat all the chicken. Drizzle with olive oil and water. Let sit for 10 minutes while your grill gets hot.

Place the mixture on a pre-holed aluminum cookie sheet (you can find these for about $1 at the grocery store) and cook until the chicken is cooked through; depending on the heat of the grill, this will only take about 5-10 minutes.

You can serve the fajita mix directly off the grill and into the tortillas. Yum.

Love At First Sight

Well guys we've all heard people saying that it's a case of love at first sight. But to me this term itself is very confusing and it makes me wonder whether something of that sort can really happen to anybody that the moment you see a person, you fall in love.

And if something like this is true then is it really love? In my eyes it can be a mere attraction seeing someone's physical appearance. And if not then should we conclude that love is all about physical attraction. Read further about study of love at first sight and then ask yourself does love at first sight exist?

Love At First Sight

Love in the first sight is a cumbersome phrase which is difficult to understand but yes one thing that I'm sure about is that there is something about the other person that you cant stop yourself from glancing at him/her or to put in other words there is something so eye catchy and appealing that you cant take your eyes off that person.

And if that person is not around, your eyes are looking for him. Now what is appealing depends from person to person.

You might get attracted to one's beautiful enchanting eyes or the cute smile. You never know what is it in a person that might steal your heart. Well, love is a term, which is much more than just physical attraction. It's about compatibility, understanding, trust and respect. At the end of the day, I would like to emphasize that 'love is a beautiful dream' so keep yourself open to receiving love then be it the case of love at first sight.

Salmon with Wasabi and Lime Cream Sauce

At first glance, many will think that the quantity of wasabi specified may be a typographical error. Japanese horseradish is known for its sinus clearing properties. A little too much will make your eyes water. When combined with heavy cream, pickled ginger and sweetened lime juice the flavor is subtler and you lose much of the heat. Start with a tablespoon of prepared wasabi and then keep adding more until it suits your taste. You can use either the dry wasabi powder that is mixed with cold water to make a paste, or the prepared stuff in the tube. The goo in the tube is milder.

4 servings

4 salmon fillets, about 6-8 ounces each
salt and white pepper to taste
2 tablespoons olive oil
1/2 cup dry white wine
1 tablespoon pickled ginger, minced
2 garlic cloves, minced
1 lemon, juice only
1 lime, juice only
1 teaspoon Rose's lime juice
1-2 tablespoons prepared wasabi paste
1/2 cup heavy (whipping) cream

Season salmon on both sides with salt and white pepper. Heat oil in a large skillet over medium heat. Add salmon and brown on both sides. Remove fish from pan and keep warm. Add wine remaining ingredients except cream. Reduce liquid to just a few tablespoons and then add cream. Bring to a boil and continue to cook until sauce is thick and creamy.

To serve, place salmon on plate and drizzle sauce over.

Secret#1. Drink Lots of Water

Water helps you lose weight in a number of different ways. It is probably the singularly most important change you can make in your everyday routine to both increase your health and get into better shape. First, water acts as an appetite suppressant. You should only be eating when you're hungry and water will decrease the amount of time you spend hungry.

Another benefit of drinking ice-cold water is that your body has to expend energy to heat the water to match your regular body temperature. Basically, you can burn calories simply by drinking ice-cold water!

Secret#2. Eat More...Often:

We all grew up being constantly admonished to eat three square meals a day. Sadly, the advice dutifully doled out by mothers around the world isn't actually in line with the way our bodies function most efficiently.

Eating five or seven smaller meals a day, versus the three heaping meals we grew up on, allow our body to take in only the amount of fuel it needs. Normally, when we pile in three full meals, our body has to store some of that food because it cannot metabolize it all at once. This ends up becoming love handles, cottage cheese thighs and all of the other euphemisms we've created to describe the fatty parts of our bodies. Be sensible and healthy with what you eat, but eat it more often.

Great Movie Ideas for Valentines

Well when the time is to tie the knots of lovebirds, then I guess the most romantic idea is a special candle light dinner, light music, dim lights but don't you think still something seems to be missing. There has to be lots more fun, thrill and romance on this day, what say? In my opinion, a perfect valentine day is incomplete without watching a valentines movie that has the capability to boost up the mood for romance.

The reservoir of Valentine's Day romantic movies is a comprehensive one and consists of multiple options to choose from. Just to name a few top romantic valentine day movies we have Titanic, Sleepless In Seattle, Romeo And Juliet, City Of Angels, Love Story, Sixteen Candles, Pretty Woman and Endless Love etc.

But if you want to have some cheerful moments of laughter and joy then there are some real funny romantic comedy films like 20 Dates, About Last Night, Breakfast at Tiffany's, An American in Paris & Butterflies Are Free.

If your loved one is an adventurous kind of person, then the perfect kind of film would be an action oriented type like Back draft, Crimson Tide, Mask Of Zorro, Point Break & Batman Forever. If you like mystery stuff then you can go in for one or more of these thriller valentine movies: Dead Again, Spellbound, Jaws, The Hand that Rocks the Cradle & Psycho. If you are fond of drama, then you can check out one of the following films: Bed Of Roses, Great Expectations, About Last Night, Just the Way You Are, Happy Together & When Harry Met Sally.

If you are a happily married couple and wish to watch a movie that your kids can also enjoy then you can buy a DVD of Beauty and the Beast or Heaven Can Wait. Other good options are Night Tide, Like Water for Chocolate & Celestial Clockwork.

Secret#3. Cut Down on Salt:

Salt is one of the major enemies of anyone attempting to lose weight because it forces our body to hang onto water that it normally would expel. As a result of this water retention, we stop filtering fluids the way we were designed to.

We end up drinking even less water, contributing to the problems outlined in the first tip. The excess salt in our system also clogs up our internal filtration system which reduces our metabolism.

Secret#4. Exercise Regularly:

You had to know this one was going to come up, didn't you? The key point in exercising is to get your heart rate up and pumping fast, which will increase the speed at which your body burns fat. So, realistically, any exercise that achieves this goal is a "good" exercise.

The trick is to either a) find something you enjoy doing that fulfills those requirements or b) find a way to enjoy something that fulfills those requirements. Many people go out and buy a fancy machine, thinking that the cost of the machine will force them to use it. They are usually wrong.

One good exercise is walking up and down stairs. If you have stairs in your house, then you're all set! Many people enjoy listening to a book on tape or music while they do this and the exercise is perfect because it has a high resistance side (going up) and a low resistance side (going down).

In lieu of stairs, you can find dozens of easy exercises on the Internet that you can do in your own home. Commit to doing ten or twenty-minutes a day, with a day or two off for recuperating, and stick to it. Make it part of your daily routine. Do not let yourself skimp for at least a month-and-a-half. After that, it will be a habit.

While these suggestions aren't going to move you from couch potato to stud muffin in three days, the reality is that nothing will. Ignore all the hype on those late night infomercials pushing diet pills which are likely to throw your body into shock or worse. Concentrate on these four steps and you'll amaze yourself with the results.
